Dear Mr. Tettenhorst;

I have enclosed the two coins that are of interest to you. I have a little information on each that may also serve your purpose:

The 1797- I purchased it in trade at the 1973 ANA Show in Boston. It belonged to Harold Whiteneck. It appears to have gone through the castaing machine more than once, possibly because the machine was set too high(?). I showed the coin to Roger at the show and he confirmed its genuineness.

The 1802- The first time I remember hearing about this piece was in 1965. 'Fritz' Weber of Emmaus, PA told me that he had seen an 1802 Rev. 1800 better than any other. It belonged to the Gimelson Brothers, then of Philadelphia. I believe that this is the piece, as the Gimelsons owed Robert Batchelder some money, and paid him with the coin. When RB advertised it in 1972, I was the first to give him a call for it.

This is really all of the information I have on them. If there is anything else I can do for you, please let me know.

I'm looking forward to meeting you, as we have so many mutual acquaintances (i.e.- Julian, Roger, Knox Ivey).

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Sam Ungar

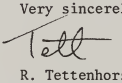
Dear Sam:

Thanks very much for sending the two half cents. The enclosed cashier's check is in payment for them, as per your approval memo of November 15.

I would also enjoy meeting you at some future time. I've heard some of our mutual friends mention you from time to time over the years.

Very sincerely,



R. Tettenhorst
